DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11/15/10 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Raymond (US 4,648,248).

See Figs. 1-3 of Raymond. 10 has a face with multiple facets that converge at its tip. Since Raymond discloses a tool and applying a force perpendicularly to a metal surface, it must be forming at least one indentation comprising at least one light-reflecting facet. Raymond fails to disclose manually and mechanically applying a tool.

At the time the invention was made, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to a person of ordinary skill in the art to apply the tool manually and mechanically because Applicant has not disclosed that applying the tool manually and mechanically provides an advantage, is used for a particular purpose, or solves a stated problem. It is well known in the art to take a hammer or some other form of a force inducing tool or mechanism to strike or push the end of the tool as shown in Guild to apply a downward force to the surface to form an indentation to lock the jewel in its place.

Therefore, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify Guild to obtain the invention as specified in claims 1 and 3.

4. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Raymond (US 4,648,248) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Tosti (US 6,668,584).

Raymond fails to disclose titanium.

Tosti discloses titanium (col. 3, line 26).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Raymond by titanium, as taught by Tosti, for the purpose of enhancing durability.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Please provide reference numerals (either in parentheses next to the claimed limitation or in a table format with one column listing the claimed limitation and another column listing corresponding reference numerals in the remark section of the response to the Office Action) to all the claimed limitations as well as support in the disclosure for better clarity (optional). Applicants are duly reminded that a full and proper response to this Office Action that includes any amendment to the claims and specification of the application as originally filed requires that the applicant point out the support for any amendment made to the disclosure, including the claims. See 37 CFR 1.111 and MPEP 2163.06.
